Subtitled "The Best Of Arcansiel 1988-2004", this is not a normal compilation as the six favourite tracks from their three studio albums – "Four Daisies" (1988), "Still Searching" (1990) and "Normality Of Perversion" (1994) - have all been re-recorded at KMP Castle Studios (Vercelli, Italy) between September 2003 and January 2004. The music of this Italian progrockers can be described as neo-progressive rock (think of Marillion), mixed with influences from seventies giants like Genesis and Italian traditional progrock (like Banco and PFM). The end result is a beautiful and highly accessible 'easy listening' progrock album, featuring 6 long tracks with a perfect sound. (CL)
